Health & Wellbeing Ambassador

Purpose
The Health & Wellbeing Ambassador team is one part of a larger Gators Helping Gators program launching at SFSU in Fall 2020. The program is directed towards helping students who are physically on campus in the Fall to learn, take responsibility, and do their part to prevent the spread of infection within the community.

Duties and Responsibilities
A team of Gators Helping Gators Health & Wellbeing Ambassadors will be stationed at the entrances of classroom buildings in order to promote and check for healthy habits at the building access point.

Specific duties may include:
- Ensure that all entrants (e.g., students attending an in-person class) are wearing a face covering.
- Hand out a face covering if entrant does not have one before they proceed to class.
- Ensure that all entrants have completed a daily COVID-19 self-screening assessment on the SF State digital application (“Green means go”).
- Distribute and/or provide access to hand sanitizer and other wellness-related items.
- Promote actions that help prevent the spread of infection (“At least 6 ft Separation” and “Wash or Sanitize Your Hands Often”).
- Elevate any significant issues on-site to the appropriate department or campus administrator.

Expectations include:
- Ability to work assigned shifts Monday through Saturday from approximately 7:15am to 10pm.
- Reporting to work on time.
- Adhering to protocols set forth in training and by your direct supervisor.
- Communicating summaries or incidents that occurred on shift through shift reports or other communication modes established by your supervisor.

Qualifications
- Current San Francisco State University student, enrolled in Fall 2020 classes, a minimum of 6 units (graduate students, minimum 4 units).
- Must have and maintain a minimum 2.0 GPA.
- Ability to work on-site at the SFSU campus.
- Excellent customer service and communication skills.
- Attention to detail and the ability to follow specific protocols and procedures.
- Ability to work independently without direct supervision on a day-to-day basis.
